The Art & Science of Farmers' Market Display

Mary Prohaly, Community Development Specialist, CFM Extension

Learn How to Create Displays that Really Sell

You have a great product and your farmers' market is bustling with shoppers. So why aren't sales as good as you hoped? Having a great product is important, but only if you can successfully attract customers to "try and buy". In this publication we review some basic tips for...

Tip: Keep a couple sturdy shopping bags around and pass them to shoppers who arrive at your stand with their hands full. People can't shop if their hands are full!

FARM BUSINESS SUPPORT

Jen Jenkins

Need support for your business?

A facilitator supports you by connecting you to the people and resources needed to make your business successful. Jennifer Jenkins has direct access to an amazing group of brilliant minds - the "LEAP" board (League of Extraordinary Agri-preneurs) who have the knowledge, skills and network needed to assist young farmers in their business.

Meet Jen, she'll be supporting you today.

Jen will work with you to find the resources you are looking for and help you build a strong business team. Jen is always available to chat about your business.

She's a farmer too and understands the everyday challenges and rewards that come with being involved in agriculture!
